

HORROR STUDIES

BAFTSS

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP

February 2021

Hello, and welcome to the first BAFTSS Horror Studies Special Interest Group Bulletin of 2021! We hope you all had a peaceful and restful break over the holidays, and we are looking forward to another year of hearing all about your new projects, publications, and events!

Below you will find news of recent publications, current calls for papers (conferences and journals/books), and other information/events that may be of interest.

The bulletin is sent out on a bi-monthly basis, with the next one being sent out in mid-April. If you have any recent publications, upcoming events, or anything you would like to signal boost within the field of horror studies, please do get in touch.

The deadline for sending us information you would like included in the next bulletin is the 2nd of April.

Thanks!

Kate, Laura, and Shellie.

THANK YOU!

We wanted to give a hearty thanks to all of you who attended our events last year. We were so proud to host the launch of the ground-breaking Women Make Horror: Filmmaking, Feminism, Genre as our inaugural event, and we hope you enjoyed the Weekday Night Bites in October, November and December (even if the debate over Jack Frost vs. Rare Exports got pretty tense). If you were unable to attend any of our previous events, you don't have to miss out, as the full videos are available on our website - <https://baftsshorrortv.com>

We've hosted some great discussions thus far, and we hope to continue that this year – details of upcoming Weekday Night Bites can be found below. We are so pleased with how these events have gone down, and how this SIG has gone from strength to strength since its inception last summer – and you are no small part of that, so thank you!

BAFTSS CONFERENCE NEWS

Drumroll please! the official Horror SIG panel for this years BAFTSS conference (7th – 9th April), organised by our own Kate Egan, is:

Reclaiming Bodies, Voices and Experiences: Feminist Perspectives on the Horror Genre through Theory and Practice.

The panel will include the following papers:

Alison Peirse, 'Hell is other critics: Remaking horror in the essay film' (Video essay and reflection)

Amy Harris, 'Gendered bodies, gender filmmaking? Exploring the landscape of contemporary British horror via women filmmakers'

Gabriela Zogall, 'The Evil Woman in Cinematic Realms: An Audio-Visual Essay' (Video Essay and Reflection)

UPCOMING SIG EVENTS

24th February – Politics of Horror: A Postgraduate Workshop.

- With Rhys Jones, Ami Nisa, Amy Harris, Adam Herron, Farhana Irshad, Heather Petrocelli, May Santiago, and Valeria Villegas Lindvall.
- Registration is now open!
- Please visit our twitter (@BAFTSS_Horror), Facebook group, or website for more details!

WEEKDAY NIGHT BITES – CALL FOR PITCHES!

Weekday Night Bites is a monthly series of scholarly events on screen horror, and we are looking for your pitches for future events – these can take the form of roundtable discussions, launches, workshops, research presentations – whatever works for you.

You can have a watch of previous events on our website:

September 2020 – Women Make Horror book launch
October 2020 – Ghostwatch roundtable discussion
November 2020 – Night of the Nasties roundtable discussion
January 2021 – New Blood book launch

Part of our role as a Special Interest Group is to facilitate connections and discussions between members, and to foster a network of postgraduate, early career, and established researchers in the field. We aim to spark collaborations and a collegial atmosphere, promote new and cutting-edge work, and to promote and support equality, diversity and inclusivity within the horror studies community. A full list of our SIG aims can be found on our website, or alternatively on the official BAFTSS website – Events are arranged in line with these.

So if you have an idea for a Weekday Night Bite, please get in touch – through our Facebook, twitter, or through direct email contact with one of the convenors.

Critical conversations in horror studies, Lehigh University Press.

- Publishing cutting-edge research that is accessible to both general and academic audiences, this series takes on important critical conversations about horror. The series offers a broad scope of scholarly inquiry. Not only do its books examine a range of media including film, television and literature, but its publications also consider a variety of historical eras extending into the contemporary moment and reaching as far back as the origins of horror itself
- Manuscripts should be focused around a specific topic, the importance of which should be made very clear
- Range from 50,000 to 90,000 words
